

STRENGTH THROUGH DESIGN

The Knott cast housing is a typically thicker cast section with additional strengthening through a lattice form to the base and thus extremely robust. Coupled with this, the integral machined cast bearing spread is longer and thus more supportive leading to less wear and longer life.