GENERAL SAFETY REGULATION EC 661/2009

The General Safety Regulation (GSR) amends Directive 2007/46/EC by substituting the equivalent UNECE Regulations in place of the EC Directives. It makes compliance with the UNECE regulations for type approval submissions compulsory from 1 November 2012 and compulsory for vehicles entering into service from 1 November 2014.

All of the old EC Directives will be repealed and will be replaced by the UNECE regulations. UNECE Regulations are also recognised in a wider range of countries than the European Directives. Where equivalent UNECE Regulations are not available General Safety Implementing Measure documents are being published.
